

Eva Tulene Watt First Peoples' Scholarship for Indigenous North Americans/American Indians

Deadline: March 3, 2010

SOHA will award two scholarships to Native Americans who are practicing oral historians, or to those with a serious interest in oral history, to attend the annual conference to be held at the Boulder City, Nevada, April 9-11, 2010. Each recipient will be awarded $500. The award is to be used towards hotel, travel and food expenses incurred to attend the conference. In addition, SOHA will donate the full conference registration, one workshop, the awards luncheon, a reception, and Sunday breakfast. Native American students, teachers, independent oral historians and individuals associated with nonprofit organizations are encouraged to apply.

The application letter should include a paragraph explaining how the scholarship will advance the applicant's goals in the field of oral history and work done in oral history, if any. Please also provide names and phone numbers of two references.

Each recipient will attend the entire conference and write a brief article highlighting one or two presentations from the conference for possible publication in the SOHA newsletter.

Preference will be given to Native Americans who live or work in the area that SOHA serves: Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada or Southern California. Native Americans who live in Northern California or who have done oral history work in the SOHA region will also be considered.

THE SAME RECIPIENTS OF THIS SCHOLARSHIP CANNOT BE AWARDED TWO YEARS IN A ROW

SUBMISSIONS SHOULD BE SENT AS WORD ATTACHMENTS VIA E-MAIL TO:
